May Morning
by James Gibbon
Year 10 Art Project
Welcome to the 35th Oxfordshire Artweeks festival during which you can see, for free, spectacular art at hundreds of places, in artists’ homes and studios, along village trails and city streets, in galleries and gardens. It is your chance, whether a seasoned art enthusiast or an interested newcomer to enjoy art in a relaxed way, to meet the makers and see their creative talent in action.

Artweeks is a not-for-profit organisation and relies upon the generous support of many people to whom we’re most grateful as we bring this celebration of the visual arts to you. We are thrilled to be sponsored for 2017 by West Waddy ADP, a multi-disciplinary practice combining Architects, Town Planners and Urban Designers in one consultancy. They are based in Abingdon, are passionate about place-making through design and they are delighted to support Artweeks and help offer you all the chance to bring art, design and a fresh look into your own spaces.

Our cover this year is a wire sculpture by Rachel Ducker who welcomes you to her Jericho studio (venue 403).

Browse the listings and the accompanying website where you’ll find hundreds of examples of artists’ work, and pick the exhibitions that most appeal to you: from the traditional to the contemporary, and with drawing to printmaking, furniture to fashion, silverware, sculpture and more, there’s masses to explore. We hope you are inspired by the pieces on show and find some treasures to take home with you.

Celebrating the Human Form

In Oxford's Concerned Pet River Museum, full of anthropological artifacts and fascinating finds, several cases display objects that are classified as 'Human Form in Art'. Although they display extreme diversity in materials, techniques, location, period, and some of beauty, they all highlight the diverse human form the cultures perceived. Today, in almost all cultures around the world, the enduring theme that is the human figure remains central to decorative art.

The exhibition shows us not only monkeys through a variety of papercuts, but also ceramic figures are crafted from the shapes of birds and flowers, however, and like many other monkeys which span Asia, from Iran to Japan. The Ashmolean of the far-fung and the University of Oxford, 30,000-year-old stone representations of birds and flowers, however, and like many other monkeys which span Asia, from Iran to Japan. The exhibition shows us not only monkeys through a variety of papercuts, but also ceramic figures are crafted from the shapes of birds and flowers, however, and like many other monkeys which span Asia, from Iran to Japan. If you take a close look, you'll see that Wallace's ceramic figures are crafted from the shapes of birds and flowers, however, and like many other monkeys which span Asia, from Iran to Japan. Artweeks artists create art all year round and exhibit both in Oxfordshire and further afield throughout the year. Visit their online galleries at artweeks.org/galleries to see more examples of artists’ work, find out about additional exhibitions and Christmas events, or commissioning an individual piece of art. Many also offer workshops.

There are also many galleries across the county which display interesting and inspiring art throughout the year. Here are twenty with whom Artweeks collaborates. For more information on their art spaces and exhibitions, visit their individual websites via artweeks.org/OGN

Mary Moser Award Winner 2017

Introducing Andrew Harrison

Andrew Harrison grew up in a northern coal mining town and the most obvious escape route from the mine was to join the army. He took an army apprenticeship to learn carpentry and joinery, spending five years as a Combat Engineer before becoming a diplomatic courier. As part of an international team working in Sierra Leone, it was from the locals there that Andrew learnt how to carve wood. Back at RAF Brize Norton he bought a lathe and started wood-turning. Now a sculptor and gallery-owner, Andrew still loves working with wood and the many different patternations and textures.

During Artweeks, his sculpture will be on show in the SOTA Gallery in Witney (venue 137) and at the Oxfordshire Craft Guild exhibition in Chipping Norton (venue 231).

This annual award was established to honour Mary Moser’s commitment to Artweeks and to help develop the career of a professional artist who has taken up art as a second career later in life.

Previous winners include:

- Caroline Chappell in Middleton Cheney (painting; venue 182)
- Caroline Meynell in Great Milton (painting; venue 113)
- Kamal Koria in Oxford (painting; venue 373)
- Wendy Newhofer in Great Milton (glass art; venue 114)
- Martin Smith in Summertown (sculpture; venue 432)
- Crabby Taylor in Wilcote (ceramics; venue 281)
- Jane Duff in Little Wittenham (painting; venue 82)

ARTISTS: BE PART OF THE ARTWEEKS FESTIVAL NEXT YEAR

Many full time artists including acclaimed Sculptor Chris Townsend and prize-winning glass artist Wendy Newhofer took their first steps to becoming a professional artist or designer-maker with an Artweeks exhibition.

'I am enormously grateful to Oxfordshire Artweeks which enabled me, as a beginner, to share my work with the public. The positive feedback I got on my first Artweeks exhibition encouraged me to go on working and making. Without Artweeks, I don’t think I would have had the courage to launch myself as a professional jeweller.'

Leonie Bennett

'I have found out in my first year as a member of Artweeks that it is more than just showing work in one’s studio: it is about contact with people, recognition by the public and being seen regularly so people become familiar with one’s work. Being part of Artweeks led me to other places in that first year as a full-time artist and I have now exhibited further afield on the strength of the confidence Artweeks gave me.'

Robert Strange

First choose to exhibit from home or find a local artist group/venue. Then register for membership of Oxfordshire Artweeks and submit exhibition details as either an individual artist or as part of a group at www.artweeks.org/artists.

Look out for Artweeks “TAKING PART” events in the autumn to hear more and have the chance to ask questions. All exhibition registrations must be submitted before 31st December.

In 2018, Oxfordshire Artweeks will run from 5-28 May with a focus on

North & West Oxfordshire 5-13 May
Oxford City 12-20 May South Oxfordshire 19-28 May

ARE YOU
- a passionate artist or designer-maker who is keen to show your work, share your skills and/or inspire others?
